He was one of the few who organized the Republican party in Adair county, and voted for Lincoln in 1860. His only son, W. M. Gill, of this city was the founder of the Kirksville Journal. Death was due to fever and prostration induced by becoming overheated. Funeral took place Tuesday afternoon at 3 o'clock, Rev. Palmer conducting the services.

To the Memory of Jessie Gertrude Burton.

Across the river the pale bantam has again launched his barque and plucked from among us one of the sweetest buds which blossomed in all the garden. Very tenderly was it nurtured, this flower of so rare a beauty. Very jealously was it guarded, lest a chilling wind might blight the fragile plant and shatter its gentle loveliness to the earth. But unobserved, silently and yet so quickly the boatman plied his oars near and yet nearer, until before we were aware the object of our love had slipped from our grasp and was borne swiftly and silently across the stream of death.

Gifted by nature with rare beauty of feature, those with whom she associated knew this to be the least of Jessie Burton's charms. Time and time again has the writer listened with rapture to the melody of that voice, as it poured forth song after song so soft, so sweet, so full of feeling it seemed but the exponent of her own pure soul.

To know Jessie was to love her. Affectionate, joyous, a faithful friend. In social circles she was sought after by all. While at home she was at once daughter and companion. The deepest sympathy goes out to the bereaved mother, and we would fain bind up the wounded heart and speak peace to the troubled soul, but ah, none save those who have passed through a similar trial can know the desolation which that vacant chair will bring. Oh death thou art terrible! The young, the beautiful and the good all alike thou claimest for thine own! Yet methinks could we but pierce the veil that hides our view from Heaven, and witness the gladsome meeting with the sisters and the brother gone on before, we would smile and kiss the rod. But though we grieve and miss her, let us know our loss is her eternal gain.

But forever and aye in memory's hall we will cherish her sweet brief life. And though years may come and years may go our thoughts will ever crowd back to our dear girl friend, and when to us the silent messenger shall come, we know there is one whose voice, ever sweet, will now take up the heavenly anthem and Jessie will welcome us home.

If You Hear the Bell.

Every Thursday evening, should you hear the Episcopal church bell ring, you may know there is a meeting for prayer and praise, and that if you go to it you will find and enjoyment in meeting with Him, whose presence is worth more than all the pleasures of this vile sinful world which is no friend to grace.

Avoid Arrest.

The young men and boys who have been in the habit of going to the O. K. pond to bathe have given cause for complaint to the people of that neighborhood and the railroad company has determined to put a stop to it. Being More Pleasant.

To the taste, more acceptable to the stomach, and more truly beneficial in its actions, the famous California Liquid fruit remedy, Syrup of Figs, is rapidly superseding all others. Try it. One bottle will prove its merit. For sale by J. G. Jamison.

Reducing the Surplus.

The disposition of the surplus in the U. S. Treasury engages the attention of our statesmen, but a more vital question has our attention, and that is the reduction of the Surplus Consumptives. Since the discovery and introduction of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, there has been a marked decrease in the mortality from this dreaded disease, and it is possible to still further reduce the number of Consumptives. How? By keeping constantly at hand a bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery and using according to directions upon the appearance of the first symptoms, such as a Cough, a Cold, a Sore Throat, a chest or side pain. Taken thus early a cure is guaranteed. Trial bottle free at E. A. Grove & Co's, Drug Store.

Thirty Miles Disappear.

Thirty miles of country is a big thing to disappear, but this distance has been dropped out between Kansas City and Chicago. How it happened is thus figured out. The Chicago, Santa Fe & California Railway is completed between Kansas City and Chicago, and the distance between the two cities is only 458 miles measuring from Union Depot, Kansas City, to Dearborn Station, Chicago. This is exactly thirty miles less than by any of the old lines, so you have to travel thirty miles less, your freight has to be hauled thirty miles less, and practically the Santa Fe has made thirty miles disappear. A few years at this rate and Kansas will be in New England.
